

Topic: Creating your own Commonwealth Games for work

Maximise the interest in the Commonwealth Games in your workplace by staging your own specially-themed Games. It can provide a timely boost to your culture and team spirit!

Here are four team building events that we deliver themed on the Commonwealth Games ...

1. Mini Commonwealths

This program can be held over 2-3 hours in either a large indoor or outdoor space. Your group will be divided into teams, each to represent a Commonwealth nation. After creating and performing anthems, teams will participate in group activities, the same or similar to those held at the Games, in pursuit of valuable points.

2. Sports Day

This program can be held over a half or full day. You could choose Commonwealth Games sports like basketball, badminton, beach volleyball, lawn bowls, netball or table tennis, or a combination of these, and we'll put a tournament together to suit your group. The beauty about these sports is that anyone can have a go.

3. Trivia

This is a great option to have over lunch or dinner at a nice indoor venue in the lead up to or during the Games. With your group divided into teams, this competition is designed to test your knowledge on participating countries and sports, as well as the Commonwealth Games.

4. Art in a Day

Teams are challenged by a series of team bonding activities to determine the quality of the materials they have to work with. Then it's over to their creativity to produce a canvas that represents the Commonwealth Games, such as a nation, athlete or prediction of medal tally.
